Introduction to Geographic Information

Start your summer learning to map your world and to analyze geographic data!

This class surveys geographic data from maps, photos, cell phones, satellites, drones, GPS units, censuses, and surveys. You will learn the uses and limitations of this data and how to skillfully interpret it, with applications from data science to cartography and the digital humanities.