GLOBAL ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE GEOG 435

This advanced course brings geographical perspectives on place, space, scale, and environmental change to the study of environmental justice. In lectures, texts, and research projects, students examine environmental concerns as they intersect with racial, economic and political differences.

Students will work on a community-based research project on the social-ecological and indigenous community impacts of relocating Indonesia's capital to a global bio-cultural hotspot in Borneo.

One of two required core courses in the Environmental Justice Minor!
